

Greetings!

Loud and Clear!

We're talking about the lessons we're learning in quarantine...or at least lessons we could be learning.

We are walking through a unique moment in time, a collective upheaval that's changing how we work, worship, and spend our weekdays. Chances are, not all of those changes have been welcome. We're discovering the limits of our control - even as we grasp for what was. But maybe in the midst of our journey back to "normal," God is inviting us to surrender control - and discover something even more exciting and effective.

Listen, and you'll hear him "Loud and Clear!"

See you Sunday - either online or in person!
